

Course Description

This half day program is designed for Family Medicine Physicians to better understand current American Diabetes Association recommendations in order to optimize diabetes management. The use of Chronic Care Model in the primary care environment will be examined as well. Specific emphasis will be put on the use of combination drug therapy as well as current Diabetes Nutrition Guidelines in order to individualize recommendations for patient populations. An interactive discussion will take place in the final session based on actual case presentations in order to provide specific options for treatment.
